The myth suggests that amber, often called "the tears of the gods" or "sweat of the sun," is preserved by divine custodians who protect it from theft and decay.

In Greek mythology, amber was linked to the myth of Phaethon, the son of Helios, who lost control of his chariot, causing the sun to scorch the earth and creating tears that fell into the sea, forming amber. While not explicitly called "keepers," these myths emphasize the preciousness and divine association of amber, implying the existence of custodians or protectors of this treasure.
